

AGEISM REARS ITS UGLY HEAD

(Introduction Prepared by "the man")

"Greetings! I hope you're aboard as seekers for a longer better life - for those past fifty, and for those isolated, lonely, and victimized by the hard place, both determined to remain a vital part of society, unthreatened by excommunication solely because of advancing age.

Peruse , the philosophical basis of Wildegeist Foundation. You'll find that the true meaning of "WILDEGEEST!" is derived from Longfellow's poem, "EXCELSIOR!" (1843), which begins, "The shades of Night were falling fast-" and describes a banner with a strange device - EXCELSIOR!.

Some day, WILDEGEEST! may be widely adopted as a synonym for EXCELSIOR! which means "Alley-oop", "Upsy-Daisy," "Onward and Upward". More precisely, it will be defined as -

"A Rebel Yell that Confronts and Denies the Degrading Effects of Old Age".
